June 2020
Mallorca, Spain

DESTINATION : Mallorca

Mallorca is the largest island in the Balearic Islands, which are part of Spain and located in the Mediterranean.

The Balearic Islands lead the way in sustainability. With their almost 17 million visitors a year (soon to be said), they are taking giant steps to change their tourism model. Following the example of large cities such as Rome, London or Paris, the Islands decided to introduce a sustainable tourism tax in 2016 to tax overnight stays by visitors. In addition to regulating vacation rentals and being the first autonomous community to pass a climate change and energy transition law.

ACCOMODATION : Hotel Son Net *****

The Son Net estate dates back to the 17th century and is located in the heart of the Mallorcan Sierra de Tramuntana (UNESCO World Heritage Site since 2011).

In the 90's the main property was carefully restored and in 1998 it opened its doors as one of the most authentic, luxurious and historical hotels on the island.

From that moment, the property wanted to recover the old splendor of the grounds that surround the hotel and they did it defending the use of ecological cultivation methods, both in the orchard and in the vineyard. For this reason, there are planted native grapes together with the centennial olive trees that surround the estate. There is also a space for native animals of the island, such as sheep, chickens and Mallorcan donkeys.
