The oceans are considered the heart of our planet; they are home to most of the world's plants and animals, feed millions of people, regulate the climate, and produce about half the oxygen that is vital for the survival of humans and all land species that inhabit the planet. This saltwater surface covers more than 70% of the earth's surface.

Among all the activities that affect the oceans, plastic pollution is one of the biggest threats. Can you help us turn this situation around?

Life Sound is much more than a recycling workshop. It is a musical experience on another level. Discover how to extract your favorite melodies from everyday containers. Any element can be transformed into an instrument: a water bottle, a milk carton or even a yogurt. We will teach you easy ways to turn waste product containers into percussion instruments, so they don't end up in the ocean.

Don't throw anything away! Save the elements and get ready for the Life Sound Masterclass.

A show for your ears while protecting the oceans, the heart of our planet, from one of the greatest threats: plastic pollution.

Thanks to Life Sound you are contributing to the achievement of the following Sustainable Development Goals set by the UN

The LIFE SOUND activity will consist of a 30-minute practical workshop to facilitate solutions for the reuse of waste product containers. We will turn powdered milk / cocoa cans, tetra bricks, yogurt cups, etc., into percussion instruments.

Days before the activity, we will send a list to the client of the products and materials that we recommend the participants to have at home for the day of the activity.

After the 30 minutes of crafts, the group will be able to enjoy a concert from their homes, by our expert musician, who will play with recycled instruments made from recycled containers.

We will end the event by inviting participants to send a photo of their creations through social networks or even a video with the sound of their instruments, using the #hashtags defined by the client.
